Architectural appointments

■ ARCHITECTS Anthony Reddy Associates has announced a range of senior executive appointments in preparation for an expansion drive at the firm.

The appointments were announced at a reception to mark the firm's 25th anniversary at the National Gallery in Dublin. It was opened by the Minister for Transport and the Marine, Noel Dempsey.

Michael Ahern joins as finance director. A chartered accountant, he has held senior positions across a broad range of industries. Most recently, he has worked in construction and property development businesses.

Robert Keane has been promoted to director in the firm's Dublin office. He was responsible for the masterplan of the Heuston South Quarter Project; the HQ office for Mason Hayes Curran and apartment developments at Newmarket, Palmerstown and Sir John Rogerson's Quay.

Anne Kiernan has been
